Forecast For Yorkshire & the Humber
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 13 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Occasional blustery showers on Saturday, wintry over hills.

Today:
Frequent showers at first, occasionally heavy and with snow over hills, then occasional blustery showers through the rest of the day, but also some sunny spells in-between. Showers again wintry over hills. Still rather windy and feeling cold. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers gradually becoming confined to the Pennines with mostly dry conditions in the east, with clear spells developing. Winds continue strong overnight but a touch of frost possible in shelter. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Sunday:
A bright and mostly dry start but turning cloudy through the afternoon with outbreaks of rain moving east, these clearing during the evening. Strong winds continue and feeling chilly. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Drier and brighter on Monday, becoming less windy. Tuesday, cloudier with some outbreaks of rain, feeling milder. Wednesday, probably rather cloudy with some coastal showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.